MESSAGE SENT TO CONGRESS

The President's message left the White House at eight minutes before the noon hour.

Assistant Secretary Benjamin F. Barnes carried the document, and he was accompanied in the brougham by Assistant Secretary Rudolph Forster and Executive Clerk Warren S. Young. In addition to the message Secretary Barnes took to the Capitol several commissions for presentation to the Senate.

Following a few feet behind the vehicle that carried the edition de luxe of the President's message were another White House wagon with more messages. Each member of the Senate and House of Representatives has a copy of the message upon his desk when the document is read by the clerks, and to furnish this need the White House market wagon was passed into service.

Robert Anderson and John Kelly, negro messengers employed at the White House, were the custodians of the extra copies of the message as they reached the Capitol they did some lively foot work to get the big bundles into the two houses as soon as Assistant Secretary Barnes performed his duty of announcement.

The joint committee of the House and Senate appointed to inform the President that Congress was in session and to receive any communication he might have to make performed its duty yesterday afternoon, so that it was ready to report immediately upon the convening of today's session.

COMMITTEES HURRY NEW LEGISLATION

Members of Congress dropped into the routine of Congressional life—the committee work—this morning without apparent effort. The committee chairmen have already begun to hurry their committees in order to keep the House busy and avoid daily early adjournments.

Tomorrow the Committee on Appropriations will report the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriations bill to the House. It will carry about $30,000,000.

Postoffice Appropriations.

The postoffice appropriation bill, the estimates for which total $133,000,000, was considered by a subcommittee on postoffices this morning. Tomorrow Postmaster General W. A. Wood will be called to make a general statement of the required appropriation.

Chairman Tamm, of the Committee on Industrial Arts and Crafts, will call together the members of his committee today this week to consider the bill to appropriate $100,000 to aid in the naval and industrial exposition to be held at Jamestown, Va., in commemoration of the establishment of the first English-speaking colony in America.

Public Land Laws.

The Public Lands Committee will tomorrow vote on the propositions to repeal the timber and stone act, the commutation clause of the homestead law, and the desert land law. The proposed repeal of these laws was freely discussed by this committee during the last session.

The Indian appropriation bill will be taken up by the Committee on Indian Affairs on Thursday.

The Committee on Territories will meet this week to consider bills of importance to the Territories. The committee will also consider the bill to appropriate $100,000 to aid in the naval and industrial exposition to be held at Jamestown, Va., in commemoration of the establishment of the first English-speaking colony in America.

The Rivers and Harbors Committee has been at work for more than a week. Chairman Burton will not make public any matters in the bill until it shall have been virtually completed.

GREAT FALLS HEARING SET DOWN FOR THURSDAY

At its initial meeting Thursday the House Committee on the District of Columbia will decide the date of the hearing to be granted by the committee in connection with the project to build and operate the Great Falls and Old Dominion Street Railway as a cross-town road in Washington.

Last winter the matter was thoroughly aired in public hearings before the District Committee in the Senate, and considerable popular objection to the route was voiced in some instances. Nevertheless, the Senate committee passed on the project favorably.

At the hearings before the House committee, it is thought, the lively discussions of last winter will be revived. There is hardly any doubt that the subject will be taken up by the committee, as it was understood last year that such an arrangement would be made by the House committee.

BUSTS FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Representative Goulden has introduced a joint resolution in the House asking that $3,000 be appropriated for placing in each public school building of the District a bust of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

CARNEGIE WILL SEE ALL NOTES WITH HIS NAME

wick negotiations, wondered and worried in the mysterious labyrinth created by the woman, and finally gave up his life in the struggle.

"The Chadwick affair killed him," asserts every man in town.

Brother Directors Told.

On his deathbed Bedortha called in three of his brother directors, told them of the condition of the bank and of his unsuccessful effort to recover the money. These men he instructed to continue the work of trying to save the institution.

They made a pact to keep the matter secret, and so from October 12, when Bedortha died, the trio started on the Chadwick trail.

President Beckwith assured them that the notes were genuine, and that really all the worry and excitement were unnecessary. The three men traveled east and west, but the money was not found.

The Chadwick lawyers were again asked to induce their client to turn back the money. It was not until the Newton suit that President Beckwith became alarmed. Then tremulous with tears he confronted Mrs. Chadwick and begged her to save the bank.

Cruel Blow to the Town.

"I cannot pay now," was her reply. That meant much to Oberlin. It meant a black Christmas. It meant that hundreds of students attending the Oberlin College must leave their studies because of loss of funds. It meant that many widows, orphans, hundreds of poor working people must face a winter practically penniless.

COSTLY JEWELS PLEDGED FOR LOAN

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6.—Nathan Loesser, receiver for Mrs. Chadwick under bankruptcy proceedings, has filed his bond for $100,000.

Immediately upon qualifying Mr. Loesser filed an action against Henry Wuerst, of Elyria, Ohio, who, it is stated, is in possession of jewels of Mrs. Chadwick's as security for a loan to her, and who has threatened to dispose of the collateral.

Another legal action filed by Mr. Loesser is against an Elyria bank that recently levied on Mrs. Chadwick's household goods and sent a keeper at the Chadwick home in this city.

Property Tied Up.

It is declared that the approval of the receiver's bond ties up absolutely all of Mrs. Chadwick's property, and not a dollar of her debts can be paid out of the proceeds of her estate. All creditors, it is said, must share alike.

This is supposed to apply to the Newton claim, if there is an attempt to pay because of loss of funds. It means that many widows, orphans, hundreds of poor working people must face a winter practically penniless.
